

Special Educational Needs Information Report

Heytesbury Primary School

What is an information report?

In line with the Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice 2015, all schools have a duty to publish information on their website about the implementation of the policy for children with Special Educational Needs (SEN).

At Heytesbury School we believe in providing every possible opportunity to develop the full potential of all children. Within this report, you will find information about the provision we offer to support children with Special Educational Needs or Disabilities (SEND).

Who's who and what do they do? How do I contact them?	 Class teachers have the responsibility for the achievement and progress of all children in their class. Class teachers are available in the playground after school or may be contacted via their school email addresses. Miss Graham is the Special Educational Needs Coordinator. Her role is to monitor and coordinate provision, provide advice and liaise with parents and outside agencies. She may be contacted in the first instance via email (LG@heytesbury.wilts.sch.uk) or through the school office. Miss Graham does not work full time within the school. Mrs Godfrey is the headteacher of Heytesbury School. Mrs Whitehead-Whiting is the governor with responsibility for SEND. We have a small team of teaching assistants who are trained to deliver a range of interventions and support programmes and who also support within classes.
How does the school know if my child needs extra help?	 On a daily basis, teachers evaluate their lessons and consider whether individual children are making the expected progress within the lessons. Children are assessed each term and their attainment and progress is tracked by the class teacher, SENCo and the headteacher. If the class teacher has any concerns about a child's attainment or progress, he/she would make contact with the child's parents to discuss the best way to support the child. Should concerns continue, the class teacher will discuss these with the SENCo and agree the best way forward.

	'Slow progress and low attainment do not necessarily mean that a child has SEN and should not automatically lead to a pupil being recorded as having SENEqually it should not be assumed that attainment in line with chronological age means that there is no learning difficulty or disability.' Para 6.23 SEND Code of Practice 2015
How does the school assess my child's SEN?	 If there have been ongoing concerns about a child's progress and/or development, the class teacher will consult with parents and the SENCo. Provision may be identified on the class provision map. If necessary, referral will also be made to the 'Wiltshire Graduated Response to SEND Support" (WGRSS) – this gives guidance regarding procedures and strategies and helps to inform decisions about how best to support the child's needs. Most children can be supported successfully at this level. A One Page Profile may be written to outline how best to support the child. Additional assessment from the Acorn Education Trust SEND team or SENCo may be requested. If necessary, the child may be added to the SEN Register at the 'SEN Support' level. A One Page Profile will be written alongside an SEN Support passport to monitor progress against two specific targets per term. In response to individual needs, a 'My Support Plan' may be written, so that progress can be closely monitored and additional support put into place as necessary. Parents will be consulted and kept informed. Should the class teacher or SENCo have ongoing concerns, with parental consent, they may refer the child to an outside agency who can support' level, a small number may require an Education, Health and Care Assessment to determine whether the Local Authority needs to provide a higher level of support and funding in order to meet the identified learning outcomes. Children who have an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP) will have a formal Annual Review Meeting to review progress and current needs as well as regular review of their individual termly targets.
What should I do if I think my child may have special educational needs?	 We want to work closely with parents, so please make an appointment to discuss your concerns with the class teacher. talk to your class teacher at the Parents' Meetings / Evenings (available three times a year)
How will Heytesbury School support my child?	 All children's progress is monitored throughout the year. Where needed, additional support is provided – this may be for the more able child, the gifted and talented child or for a child with SEN, as well as for those children who need a 'boost' in a particular area. The support may be provided in class from the class teacher or teaching assistant or may be provided via a withdrawal group working with a teaching assistant. For some children support may be offered via after school clubs – 'Maths Wizards' and 'Writing Wizards'. Interventions are regularly reviewed in order to ascertain the effectiveness of the provision and to inform future planning.
How will I know how my child is doing?	 Parent meetings are held three times a year. All parents are invited to meet with the class teacher to review progress. Parents of children receiving an intervention support programme at any point during the year are given information about the programme and how they may help at home. They will also be informed of the outcomes at the end of the intervention.

Staff may meet with members of SSENS (Specialist Special Educational Needs Service) during 'SEN Surgeries' or at the Annual Planning Meeting. Through staff appraisal, development needs are identified and catered for. This may include 'in-house' training or attendance on a course. If we admit a child for whom specialist training is needed eg Epipen use, training is provided as soon as possible. Speech and Language Therapists Educational Psychologist

Class teachers continually monitor children's progress and direct support from their teaching assistant accordingly.
